

Prisoner Reentry Institute
at John Jay College of Criminal Justice
SPRING 2009 OCCASIONAL SERIES ON REENTRY RESEARCH

Friday, January 16: 8:30 AM – 10:00 AM

The Impact of Reentry Services on Juvenile Offenders' Recidivism

Jeffrey Bouffard

Assistant Professor of Criminal Justice
Washington State University

The study explores the service delivery model of a juvenile reentry program and preliminary outcomes of the program. The research offers insight into the coordination of reentry services needed to support successful juvenile reentry.

Discussants

Judith Pincus, First Deputy Commissioner, Department of Juvenile Justice; Joe McLaughlin, Director of Youth Programs, CASES; and Yumari Martinez, Senior Program Associate, Center on Youth Violence, Vera Institute of Justice

Friday, February 27: 8:30 AM – 10:00 AM

Incarceration and Sexually Transmitted Infections: A Neighborhood Perspective

James Thomas

Associate Professor of Epidemiology
University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill

This research examines the community-level confluence of high rates of sexually transmitted disease in areas of high reentry. The study grapples with the public health implications of reentry.

Discussant

Tracie Gardner
Director of State Policy, Legal Action Center

Friday, March 27: 8:30 AM – 10:00 AM and Friday, May 1: 8:30 AM – 10:00 AM

Topics to be announced

Generating Conversation between Researchers, Policymakers, and Practitioners in an Effort to Improve Policy and Practice

Events will take place at John Jay College
899 Tenth Avenue (between 58th and 59th Streets), Room 630.
Please RSVP to Amelia Thompson (212.484.1399; amthompson@jjay.cuny.edu).