

JOHN JAY COLLEGE
THE CITY UNIVERSITY OF NEW YORK
OF CRIMINAL JUSTICE

Center on Media, Crime and Justice
Center on Race, Crime and Justice, and Department of Psychology

Present

Media, Race and Capital Punishment

A conference featuring

“Race to Execution” & New York Premiere Screening of “Juror Number Six”

With a keynote address by

David Kaczynski

Executive Director, New Yorkers against the Death Penalty

Media, Race and the Coverage of the UnaBomber Case

Monday, May 12, 2008

9 AM - 4 PM

John Jay College Room 630T

899 TENTH AVENUE

Lunch will be served

Race to Execution is a gripping documentary which offers a compelling investigation of the racial disparities that persist in our society and affect our criminal justice system. It features the personal stories of two death row inmates.

Juror Number Six analyzes the effect television news, entertainment, and the Internet have on people as they step into the jury box, providing examples ranging from the O.J. Simpson trial to citizen journalism today.

Panelists include: Errol Louis, New York Daily News, Andrea Lyon, Director of DePaul University Center on Death Penalty Cases, William Sothern, Soros fellow, author and Deputy Director Capital Appeals Project, Byron Halsey, exoneree, Vanessa Potkin, Attorney, Innocence Project, Matthew Johnson and Margaret Kovera, Professors of Psychology and others.

This Event is Open to the Public. Space is limited.
Please RSVP to cmcj@jjay.cuny.edu or 212.484.1175

Presented in partnership with The Open Society Institute, Ford Foundation, Lioness Media, Active Voice and The John Jay College: Office for the Advancement of Research and Office of Continuing and Professional Studies