WHAT WILL YOU LEARN ABOUT IN THIS MAJOR?

Has criminal activity changed as the world has become more globalized? How are international and transnational crimes (such as genocide, terrorism, smuggling, trafficking and money laundering) policed? How do law enforcement agencies from different countries cooperate with each other? What role do international bodies (such as the United Nations, the International Criminal Court and Interpol) play in responding to crime at the global level? How are human rights protected, and how is justice pursued, within the international system?

If you are interested in these questions, the International Criminal Justice (ICJ) major is a good fit for you. ICJ is distinct from the other “criminal justice” majors at John Jay, in that you will gain knowledge of crime and crime control with a global and comparative perspective. The issues, theories and research strategies that you will learn about in ICJ will help you understand the ways in which today’s criminals and law enforcers operate across international borders.

IN THIS MAJOR YOU WILL ▶ ▶ ◀

Understand key issues and institutions in the field of international criminal justice.

Acquire tools to pursue research on crime and crime control at the global level.

Explore theories of international and transnational crime.

Write analytical papers.

Give oral presentations.

Develop your own original research projects.

FIRST COURSES IN THE MAJOR ▶ ▶ ◀

ICJ 101 Introduction to International Criminal Justice

ECO 231 Global Economic Development and Crime

POL/LAW 259 Comparative Criminal Justice Systems

The prerequisites for the major are Economics 101, Political Science 101, and Sociology 101.

See further major requirements at:

http://www.jjay.cuny.edu/academics/645.php

“Being in this major helped me understand international crimes and law in a way where I am challenged and motivated to find solutions that could one day be used to bring peace between nation states, people, and/or the world.”

— Jessica Rivera/ Senior
What Critical Thinking Skills Will You Develop in This Major?

- Analytical ability
- Qualitative and quantitative research skills
- Enhanced oral and written communication skills
- Advanced foreign language ability

Depending on Your Interests, What Minor Might Be a Good Complement to This Major?

- Political Science
- Economics
- Sociology
- English
- History
- Philosophy
- Humanities and Justice
- Gender Studies
- Dispute Resolution

For more information about minors, go to: http://www.jjay.cuny.edu/academics/662.php

What Opportunities Will This Major Offer You?

- Internships
- Study Abroad
- ICJ Student Club
- Participation in events hosted by John Jay’s research centers such as the Center on Terrorism and the Center for International Human Rights
- Model United Nations team

This Major Can Be a Great Foundation for a Wide Range of Jobs, But Some Possibilities to Consider Are:

- Federal law enforcement agencies
- Public sector agencies at the city, state, and federal levels
- Private sector firms
- Non-government organizations
- Non-profit organizations
- International organizations

ICJ graduates have successfully applied to high-ranking graduate and professional schools.

For more detailed information on these career ideas and for additional ones, contact:

Center for Career & Professional Development (L.72.00 New Building)
Phone: 212.237.8754
Email: careers@jjay.cuny.edu
http://www.jjay.cuny.edu/1614.php

"Being an International Criminal Justice (ICJ) major has allowed me to understand the importance of legal aspects beyond the United States borders. There are nations waiting for justice, political and economic help, and a voice. The ICJ major is more than just a major; it is a mission to educate us to create change."

- Anaiss Rijos/ Junior