Getting Around

JOHN JAY COLLEGE OF CRIMINAL JUSTICE
WELCOME
A Message from President Jeremy Travis

Today, John Jay College of Criminal Justice stands at the threshold of a new chapter in our remarkable story. Founded in 1964 as a college to educate police officers in sciences and liberal arts, John Jay has transformed into the preeminent national and international leader in educating for justice—a broadly envisioned educational experience embracing social, economic, political, and criminal justice.

Every facet of John Jay drives our promise of educating for justice: Our students, with diverse backgrounds and interests, thrive on challenging educational opportunities with high social relevance. These students reflect the changing demographics of our country.

Our students define the College’s character, they are: Determined, Courageous, Dynamic, and Strong. They are open to wherever their intellectual curiosity leads them and fierce advocates for justice.

Our faculty, with expertise in a range of academic disciplines, energizes and advances research and education. They offer an enriched learning experience that highlights the themes of justice across the arts, sciences and humanities, imparting strong moral sensibilities, sharp critical reasoning and creative problem-solving skills to our students.

A critical element in our transformation has been the construction of our new building. We have all watched it rise from an empty construction site on Eleventh Avenue to the magnificent structure that we see today. The expansion of our campus is already helping us to achieve long-sought academic and professional goals. This building is a critical underpinning of John Jay’s transformation into a senior college and the greatest expression of our continued commitment to “educating for justice.”

Let me share with you some of the specific aspects of our new building that make it so significant. Designed by Skidmore, Owings & Merill, one of the top firms in the nation, the building is a stunning work of architecture that can proudly take its place among the great buildings of New York City.

The new building supports and fosters our commitment to educating for justice and enables the John Jay College community to prepare for the celebration of our 50th Anniversary next year. This is a tremendous time for John Jay. It is the culmination of many years of team effort and planning. The transformation of this College is dedicated to student success, teaching, research and scholarship, strategic partnerships and institutional effectiveness.

This Campus Guide provides additional details about our new building as well as all campus facilities and operations.

Thanks to the hard work and ongoing support of our outstanding faculty, students and staff, the future of John Jay is brighter than ever.

President Jeremy Travis

DID YOU KNOW?
The New Building’s outdoor rooftop commons, called Jay Walk, provides the College with an outdoor area - as large as a football field - with lawns, trees and benches. A green oasis for John Jay’s community in the middle of New York City, this remarkable space provides an inviting and unique outdoor experience, where students, faculty and staff can mingle, enjoy conversation and build a greater sense of community.
The Gerald W. Lynch Theater is a 600 seat state-of-the-arts performing art venue committed to providing diverse artistic and scholarly events that educate, entertain and involve our academic and public communities.
Before becoming home of John Jay College in 1988, Haaren Hall used to be Haaren High School. Haaren Hall facilities have been used for dozens of high-profile events, films and shows, including addresses by Secretary of State Hillary Clinton, TV programs like 30 Rock, Law & Order, Blue Bloods, Celebrity Apprentice, White Collar, commercials, HBO, Comedy Central, and several movies.
The North Hall will serve as a temporary home for some academic and administrative departments through September 2014 due to a major College space re-organization and renovation plan. It will eventually become the site of CUNY’s new community college. Visit www.jjay.cuny.edu/4808.php for more details.
