PROFILE

My name is Quan Tang, and I'm currently majoring in Toxicology at John Jay College. I will cover CHEM 102 in this Fall 2021 semester. Chemistry has been my favorite subject since high school, even though I struggled with it at first. However, I believe that every process takes time, so I keep pushing myself to move forward. I want to help you understand and enjoy Chemistry as much as I do.

As an international student, I understand the obstacle that most international students are dealing with, the language barrier. Therefore, if you are an international student, don't be shy, and please join my session! You will find yourself a friend here!

During my free time, I usually listen to music and watch horror/criminal movies.
