Registration Form

Name:

Address:

Tel.:

Email:

Course name:

FALL 2015

WORKSHOPS & SEMINARS

The Center for Private Security and Safety is dedicated to the professionalization of the private security industry offering short-term segment training in both resident and online formats. By having the invaluable link between our academic resources and private security industries, the Center also publishes a peer-reviewed journal, produces relevant white papers, monitors and advises on changes to particular state industry mandates and contributes to the development of best practices for the private security industry at the local, state, national and international levels.

For more information on our offerings and registration
Please contact the Center at 212-484-1380
Email: emercado@jjay.cuny.edu

Introduction to Surveillance

Surveillance is defined by the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) as “the covert and accurate observation of persons, places or things for the purpose of obtaining physical and visual evidence concerning identities or activities of subjects for evidentiary or intelligence gathering purposes.” Successful surveillance has often been the key to making some of the most high-profile criminal investigations in history. It has crippled international drug cartels and foiled the most determined espionage efforts of our adversaries. Surveillance may be done in vehicles or on foot. Commonly available and sophisticated technologies enhance visual surveillance and may be utilized to provide a more detailed picture of the subject’s activities. Surveillance may also be utilized to neutralize the activities of foreign agents or cause a suspect to make a critical error.

More of an art than science, surveillance requires intuition and creativity in addition to the basic text book understanding of surveillance methodology. Taught by a former senior special agent with the US Drug Enforcement Administration (DEA), the course will cover the same material provided to agent trainees of both the DEA and FBI. Students will learn surveillance methodology and “tradecraft” and how to transfer this knowledge into practical application.

Event Date: Thursday, September 17, 2015
Time: 6:30pm - 9:30pm
Location: 445 West 59th Street - Room 2200A
Seminar Fee*: $80 ($70 for John Jay students, alumni, faculty & staff)

*Please make all payments to the College’s Bursar’s Office located at 619 W 54th Street, Suite 736, New York, NY 10019