Branding Guidelines
...a brand identity is derived from a clearly defined purpose—your overriding reason for being, what problems you are trying to solve, and the driving force behind the college’s strategies, decisions and investments.

This style manual provides standards for John Jay’s identity, including our logo, typefaces, colors, and co-branding specifications. It establishes John Jay College’s visual guidelines to create a “brand awareness” that clearly identifies printed or electronic materials as John Jay College publications. Examples of proper usage are provided for a variety of applications.
Our Brand

Educating for Justice

Founded in 1964 as a college to educate police officers in sciences and liberal arts, John Jay College of Criminal Justice has transformed into the preeminent national and international leader in educating for justice—a broadly envisioned educational experience embracing social, economic, political, and criminal justice.

Every facet of John Jay drives our promise of educating for justice: Our students, with diverse backgrounds and interests, thrive on challenging educational opportunities with high social relevance. Our faculty, with expertise in a range of academic disciplines, energize and advance research and education. This enriched learning experience highlights the themes of justice across the arts, sciences, and humanities, imparting strong moral sensibilities, sharp critical reasoning, and creative problem-solving skills to our students. The breadth and diversity of scholarship at John Jay reflect our continuing commitment to designing original strategies for improving individual lives and remedying social problems of our city, nation, and world.

Logo Placement

The John Jay logo should be positioned prominently on a design piece, for instance, on the top left or bottom right.

It’s important that the logo be given room on all sides (see x width) to maximize visibility and impact. Other graphic elements, including type, should remain outside this clear space.

The logo should be placed so that there remains at least this clear space width between it and other text or graphic elements, or the edge of the piece on which it appears.
Logos for Promotional Use

The text “John Jay College” can be used on promotional items when the square logo does not fit, for instance, on a pen. Use typeface “Knockout HTF70 FullWelterwt” or “Helvetica Black Condensed,” all caps. Colors should be either dark blue, cyan, black, or white.
Logo Misuse

Do not use any unauthorized variations of the John Jay logo. Do not make any unauthorized changes to the John Jay logo. Graphic elements cannot be combined as part of the logo.

- Do not compress
- Do not stretch

- Do not place dark blue logo on a dark-colored background
- Do not place white logo on a light-colored background

- Do not change the color

- Do not place inside any type of art work
- Do not wrap any text around

Primary colors for John Jay College are dark blue and cyan. Black and white are also approved colors.

Accent colors should only be used sparingly in print, digital publishing, and video.

Pantone (PMS) (spot colors): used primarily for two- to three-color printing (rather than CMYK) or for promotional items.

CMYK: a breakdown of cyan, magenta, yellow, and black used for printing materials.
RGB: the breakdown of red, green, and blue (monitors) used for digital images.
HEX: a six-digit number used in HTML, CSS, and other computing applications.

NOTE: Some colors that work for print may not work well when translated to the web. This causes accessibility issues, preventing people with vision impairments or color vision deficiencies from accessing or interacting with the content on your website.

Co-branding

As one of the constituent colleges of a leading university, the John Jay logo is used in conjunction with the CUNY logo. Shown are the appropriate scale and alignments.

When side by side, the space between the John Jay logo and the CUNY logo is equal to the space of the width of the “N” in CUNY. The height of the CUNY logo is from the baseline of “JAY” in the John Jay logo to the baseline of JOHN.

This alternate side-by-side position is used on our stationery, the back of Justice Matters magazine, the back of some brochures, and other places where the CUNY logo needs to be more prominent. The space between the John Jay logo and the CUNY logo is equal to the space of the width of the “N” in CUNY. The .5 pt. rule is centered within that space.

Do not place the CUNY logo beneath the John Jay College logo

Do not make logos the same height
College Seal

The College Seal is used in formal and special circumstances—events, certificates, diplomas, and special-branded items—in the approved brand colors shown. The seal can only be used with permission from the Office of Marketing and Communications.
Educating for Justice Art

John Jay College is the preeminent national and international leader in educating for justice—a broadly envisioned educational experience embracing social, economic, political, and criminal justice.

The “Educating for Justice” art shown here can be used on folders, brochures, t-shirts, and other approved marketing pieces, in conjunction with the College or Department logo.
Tagline Art

John Jay College fosters an inclusive and diverse community drawn from our city, our country, and the world. We are dedicated to educating traditionally underrepresented groups and committed to increasing diversity in the workforce. The breadth of our community motivates us to question our assumptions, to consider multiple perspectives, to think critically, and to develop the humility that comes with global understanding. Our tagline, “Fierce Advocates for Justice” identifies this mission.

John Jay’s tagline art can be placed on any promotional items, but it must be used in conjunction with the College or Department logo.

John Jay College department logos represent the identity of individual departments. They should only be displayed using the approved brand colors. Select logos are shown below in color, but can also be all black or all white.
Program Logos

John Jay College Program logos represent programs within the College. They should only be displayed using the approved brand colors. Select logos are shown below in color, but can also be all black or all white.
Logos Used in Conjunction with Art

In special circumstances, centers or programs use art in conjunction with their John Jay logo, symbolizing what the center or program is about.
Research Center Logos

John Jay College houses a variety of research entities, encompassing research centers officially designated at CUNY, as well as other research organizations that work in collaboration with various institutions and often in the public realm.

The logos for the research centers and organizations should only be displayed using the approved brand colors. Select logos are shown below in color, but can also be all black or all white.
Mascot

The Bloodhound is the mascot of John Jay College. The mascot wears a Sherlock Holmes hat. Holmes, a fictional character, was known for his proficiency with observation, deduction, forensic science, and logical reasoning. Today, Bloodhounds assist with law enforcement as well as search-and-rescue efforts.

In addition to using our mascot, the Bloodhound’s paw prints can also be used—in conjunction with the mascot art, or by itself.
