September 2022

Dear Children's Center Families,

I hope the Fall Semester is off to a robust start for you.

We welcome back our returning families and WELCOME ON-BOARD our new families.

As we navigate through the start of the new semester, we are already noticing friendships and the formation of social groupings, especially in our Pre-K classroom. Classroom routines are in place, and the children are developing a sense of stability in their new classrooms with their new teachers. We are noticing first-hand the growth and emergent learning of the students in our care.

We are grateful for your trust in placing your child in our care. We encourage your child's continued attendance throughout the semester. We know that consistency and continuity in attendance leads to less separation anxiety, and continued growth in your child's early years. Eventually, going to school becomes part of the normal routine, allowing for progressive advancement in your child's development, and attaining age-appropriate milestones over time.

We are thrilled that more children and families are enrolling in the Center. Your engagement and participation in the life of the Center is important to us. As the semester continues, we are planning a few social gatherings, now that we can get together again. We'll keep you posted on those events.
