

Deborah Witzburg serves as Inspector General for the City of Chicago, leading Chicago's independent, non-partisan watchdog agency charged with promoting economy, efficiency, effectiveness, and integrity in City government. Previously, she served as the City's Deputy Inspector General for Public Safety, conducting oversight of Chicago's police and police accountability agencies. She also served as OIG's Chief Investigator for Public Safety, OIG's Associate General Counsel for Public Safety, and as an Assistant Inspector General. Witzburg previously worked as an Assistant State's Attorney in the Cook County State's Attorney's Office, where she prosecuted a wide range of misdemeanor and felony cases and worked closely with law enforcement agencies and community stakeholders. She is a Certified Inspector General by the Association of Inspectors General and a Certified Practitioner of Oversight by the National Association for Civilian Oversight of Law Enforcement. Witzburg earned a BA in Anthropology from Brown University and a JD from Northwestern University School of Law.