UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
NATIONAL ANTHEM

O say can you see, by the dawn’s early light,
What so proudly we hail’d at the twilight’s last gleaming,
Whose broad stripes and bright stars through the perilous fight
O’er the ramparts we watch’d were so gallantly streaming?
And the rocket’s red glare, the bombs bursting in air,
Gave proof through the night that our flag was still there,
O say does that star-spangled banner yet wave
O’er the land of the free and the home of the brave?

THE ACADEMIC PROCESSION

The centuries-old pageantry of the academic procession comes from ancient tradition, rooted in the early universities. The solemn procession before you is the college's way of giving depth and distinction to the commencement of these men and women.

Academic caps, gowns and hoods date back to the twelfth century, developing gradually from the long flowing robes that the teachers wore to protect themselves from the cold of the medieval buildings. Since the scholars of the time were usually clerics, their robes differed little from those used by the church orders. Slowly, certain styles were designated for the universities and these, with minor modifications, are the costumes worn today. Hoods were originally fashioned after the monk's cowl; the mortarboard cap, with its tassels, evolved from the skull caps of the scholar-monks.

In France, where the degree program probably began, wearing the cap and gown marked the formal admission of the "licentiate" to the body of masters. In our country, caps and gowns have been used since colonial times. Columbia University, or King's College as it was then called, began this custom at an early date. New York University, the University of Pennsylvania and others followed, and in 1894 a commission representing the leading American colleges met to discuss academic ceremonies. A year later, the intercollegiate code was adopted. Today, more than 700 colleges and universities in the United States, Canada, the Philippines, Puerto Rico, Turkey and others follow this code. Standard styles in caps, gowns, and hoods for Doctors, Masters and Bachelors were established.

In recent years, distinctively colored gowns have been authorized for specific schools. For example, the Columbia gown is slate gray, the New York University gown is violet, the Harvard is crimson and The City University of New York gown is navy blue. The hoods worn over the shoulders and down the backs of the members of faculty reveal the degrees and institutions of the wearers. The velvet binding or edging is distinctive of the subject to which the degree pertains. The silk lining of the hood is in the color or colors of the institution granting the degree. The shortest hood is the Bachelor's; the longest and broadest is the Doctor's; and the Master's is midway between these in size. In the colors of the colleges, there is much duplication and it would be useless to identify them. However, there is a standard color for the subject and the degree, indicated by the velvet edging which shows in front and over the shoulders, and the most common of these are given below:

THE MACE

The mace, a traditional part of every academic ceremony, is a heavy staff used as a symbol of authority. It is carried by the leader of the procession, who is referred to as the Mace Bearer or the Grand Marshal.

In early Roman days the mace, carried by officers called lictors, consisted of a bundle of rods known as fasces that showed the authority of the magistrates. In medieval times, the mace was wielded in legislative assemblies to protect officials.

In the United States House of Representatives the mace is about three feet long, made of ebony rods with a band of silver. A silver globe stands on a protruding rod, and a silver eagle with wings outspread sits on top of the globe.

The John Jay College mace was created in 1968 by Anthony T. Muratore, a student and police detective. It is 29 inches long, in blue and gold, and bears the seal of the College and the seal of The City University of New York at its pinnacle.

THE HONORARY DEGREES

John Jay College of Criminal Justice honors two distinguished individuals who have enlightened society by their commitment to the principles of academic excellence and understanding for all.

10:30 A.M. – Ronald V. Clarke Honorary Degree: Doctor of Science, honoris causa

RONALD V. CLARKE

Ronald V. Clarke is one of the most important figures in criminal justice research and education. Clarke has helped to transform the study of criminology over the past four decades. His work has reshaped crime prevention strategies worldwide to focus on changing the characteristics of the situations in which crimes occur. Over the past 25 years, this concept has helped lead to significant crime reduction in New York City, the United States and other nations. Clarke previously worked in various capacities for the Home Office Research and Planning Unit, the British government’s criminological research department, where he became director in 1982. While at the Home Office, Clarke helped to develop the rational choice theory on crime and to launch the British Crime Survey, the British counterpart to the U.S. National Crime Victimization Survey. He began his academic career in the United States in 1984 as a professor at Temple University and later became the Dean of the School of Criminal Justice at Rutgers University. Clarke is the associate director of the Center for Problem-Oriented Policing, a virtual institute supported by the U.S. Department of Justice. In 2015, he was awarded the prestigious Stockholm Prize in Criminology. The founding editor of the anthology Crime Prevention Studies, Clarke also is author or co-author of more than 300 books, monographs and papers.

3:30 P.M. Ceremony – Rashida Manjoo Honorary Degree: Doctor of Humane Letters, honoris causa

RASHIDA MANJOO

Rashida Manjoo has been an international human rights advocate, particularly in the area of women’s rights as human rights, for over 30 years. She was a trailblazer in the fight for a binding global treaty to recognize extreme domestic violence against women as human rights violations. Appointed as the Special Rapporteur on Violence Against Women by the United Nations Commission on Human Rights in 2009, a position that she held until 2015, Manjoo gave special attention to violence against women and girls with disabilities. Her thematic reports to the Human Rights Council and the General Assembly have focused on state responsibility to act with due diligence to promote and protect all the rights of all women. Prior to her work at the United Nations, Manjoo had decades of experience as an anti-Apartheid activist and women's liberation campaigner in South Africa. Trained as a lawyer, she also served as the former Parliamentary Commissioner of the Commission on Gender Equality (CGE) of South Africa, where she was involved in active research and in the monitoring of the country’s progress in promoting and protecting women’s rights. She is currently the co-convenor of the Human Rights Program within the Law Faculty at the University of Cape Town and has authored many reports, journal articles and books including Women's Charters and Declarations: Building Another World.

Veronica Pacheco, Katherine Santana: Carl A. Williams Service Award is awarded to a graduating senior who, like the late Carl A. Williams, has dedicated significant time and energy to being of service to others. Each year the recipient will be given a monetary award in Carl’s memory and the student’s name will be engraved on a plaque which will be housed in the SEEK Department.

Fatoumata Ceesay, Aliyah Middleton: Prince & Evelyn Whaley Richardson Academic Achievement Scholarship is awarded to a SEEK student who has a GPA of 3.40 or higher at the time of graduation and has been accepted into an accredited graduate or professional degree program.

Ambiea Khaten: SEEK Medal Professor Emeritus James A. Malone’s SEEK Medal is presented to the Percy Ellis Sutton SEEK graduating senior who has the highest cumulative grade point average.

Montien Kromah, Carolyn Rosario: Arthur C. Logan Award is presented to the graduating senior who has persevered in the face of extreme adversity and simultaneously used the guidance and experience gained in John Jay College and the SEEK Department to actively “give back” to the community.

Jan Martinez: SEEK Peer Mentor of the Year is presented to the individual that goes beyond their job description to meet their goals and the goals of those they work with.
